

At the Center of it all: Education

Investing in the health and wellness of people with Down syndrome

Adult Down Syndrome Center

The experience and knowledge of Dr. Brian Chicoine, his staff and partnering organizations is only valuable if it can be communicated and shared. Dr. Chicoine's goal is to position the Adult Down Syndrome Center and its website as the go-to resource to learn about the health and wellness of individuals with Down syndrome.

Sharing resources

The Center's online Resource Library provides the opportunity to share information from the Center and other partners worldwide. The goals and benefits include:

- Continually develop resources for those served at the Center and for the broader Down syndrome community
- Provide information through presentations and education events at the Center and elsewhere
- Share information with families and caregivers, within our community and beyond
- Collaborate with the broader Down syndrome community and other Down syndrome organizations to help us improve our materials and share our knowledge

Sharing knowledge

Providing educational opportunities to health care professionals who are not as familiar with patients with Down syndrome will help ensure optimal care and treatment. In collaboration with other providers and clinics, we are creating continuing medical education modules to provide information to physicians about caring for individuals with Down syndrome.

About the campaign

Recently, a close friend and loyal supporter of the Adult Down Syndrome Center agreed to donate $2.75 million if the Center could raise an equal amount in support for the Research and Education Program.

Funds raised through the At the Center of it all campaign will support three growth areas: Patient Care, Education and Research. Your support will help the Center expand services and resources and share its findings with the broader medical community to support adults with Down syndrome who do not have access to a clinic such as ours.
